

Scottsdale is one of the most distinctive locations in the Southwest for indulgent shopping experiences.

By Susan Lanier-Graham

Whether you stop by Scottsdale Fashion Square, which offers some of the world's top luxury brands, or head to north Scottsdale for uniquely Arizona shopping experiences, you can find just about anything in the desert Southwest.

Harden, who has been with the mall for more than two decades, knows all the insider secrets. The impeccably dressed, always smiling ambassador genuinely wants to help visitors by providing a personal touch that's missing from large malls across the U.S. Whether you need an engagement ring, a cocktail dress or the perfect keepsake of your Scottsdale trip, Harden is there to help.

SCOTTSDALE FASHION SQUARE

LUXURY WITH A PERSONAL TOUCH

Downtown's Scottsdale Fashion Square evolved from its open-air beginnings in 1961 to a premier indoor luxury shopping destination today. The center counts leading fashion brands such as Louis Vuitton, Escada, Kate Spade, and Cartier among its 200-plus offerings.

Not sure where to begin on your shopping excursion? Never fear — you can ask Roving Concierge Peter Harden for help.

KIERLAND COMMONS

SHOPPING GOES UPSCALE

In North Scottsdale, Kierland Commons offers an upscale outdoor lifestyle center built around a commons area — where you might find fitness classes in spring or fall or a concert on a summer evening.

Whether you want to stop by the artisan-inspired collection at Sundance, founded by Robert Redford; check out ultimate performance apparel at Athleta; or get personalized spa services and indulge in luxurious beauty products at bluemercury, Kierland Commons offers unique shopping experiences. Take time to visit the new local art gallery, Desert Mountain Fine Art, showcasing both local and international artists. Finally, finish with a glass of wine and bruschetta at locally owned Postino WineCafe.

THE BEVERLY HILLS OF THE DESERT

Scottsdale Quarter is fondly called the Beverly Hills of the desert for its upscale shopping, dining and entertainment. The open-air center is the only place in Arizona where you can shop two retailers made famous online — Warby Parker for custom eyeglasses and Bonobos for picked-to-fit men’s clothing. Design your own jewelry at Kendra Scott, indulge in timeless fashion at JOIE, and find a diamond designed by artisans at Spence Diamonds. You’ll be glittering when you get ready at DryBar for a night on the town.

And you don’t have to go far. At iPic Theater, plush seating meets state-of-the-art technology, served with cocktails, of course. Afterwards, stop by Creamistry for science wizardry blended up with dessert delights or pick up French treats at Le Macaron.

Scottsdale Fashion Square / fashionsquare.com

Kierland Commons / kierlandcommons.com

Scottsdale Quarter / scottsdalequarter.com

SCOTTSDALE QUARTER

More Luxe to Come!

There will be even more opportunity for indulgence at Scottsdale Fashion Square in 2018, when the center debuts a new luxury shopping wing anchored by Neiman Marcus and Dillard’s. Fashionistas can look forward to:

- Fresh renovations and upgrades at long-standing favorite like Louis Vuitton, Jimmy Choo, Omega, Gucci and Montblanc.
- An Escada flagship store, the only one of its kind this side of Düsseldorf.
- New upscale retailers and restaurants, including Ocean 44.
- A two-story, luxury entrance with a grand promenade featuring a dedicated valet, lush gardens and a signature water feature.

